LICENCE TO THRILL

November will see the launch of GoldenEye, the former home in Jamaica of James Bond creator Ian Fleming, as an exclusive resort. The original Fleming house and five surrounding cottages have been beautifully restored along with the addition of 11 new one- and two-bedroom beach cottages, six lagoon suites, two new restaurants and a seawater infinity swimming pool. Guests will be able to feel like real-life James Bonds with bay rafting, snorkel classes, triathlon training and moon yoga among the diversions on offer.
